EFFORTS DYING"Even a European War Won't Halt Drive",
Italy Says

(By Associated Press)

An Italian advance on Makale, appeared to be imminent on the northern front of the East African war today as Premier Laval of France, the chief exponent of peaceful efforts to close the Italian campaign was pictured by his countrymen as going on defeat.On the front where Fascist forces have pushed relentlessly southward in the tread of lumbering tanks and the wings of airplanes, news came that a battle impended. Press dispatches to Rome told of continued air bombings of Ethiopian military points.

Ethiopians Plan Stand

An Exchange Telegraph dispatch from the headquarters of the Italian northern army said reconnaissance flights disclosed the army of Ras Seymour, northern Ethiopian commander, apparently planned to make a stand along a line running from Maka to Sakota, more than 100 miles south of Adowa.Rome and London reports said Rome appeared to be almost a former hope.Rome officialdom announced that "even a European war" would fail to turn Italy from its Ethiopian campaign.A parliamentary group in Britain, calling upon Premier Stanley Baldwin for assurances that the nation would not become involved in a European war, was reported—without verification—to have been told such promise could be made.Paris, there circulated unofficial reports that France and Great Britain are considering strengthening the pact of Locarno to guarantee the peace of western Europe.The prospect for conciliation is still one French official of the Emperor question.

Peace Plans Rejected

Peace plans advanced for conciliation of the belligerents were said to be unacceptable to Italy, Ethiopia or the League of Nations.From Adowa, captured in the initial Fascist drive, came word that high pressure road construction to the front lines permitted the Italian forces today to push their advance toward the important objective of Makale. The Italians expected no special resistance in the drive on Makale, 60 miles south of Adowa and a strategic caravan center on the route into the interior.Government authorities in Addis Ababa rejoiced meanwhile in a because Italy's northern forces were evidently falling into a natural trap.Ethiopians said General Milo De Bosis' armies, flushed with victory at Adowa and the Holy City of Aksum, would presently become lost in the maze of ravines, cavernous caves and mountain fastnesses.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—They are madly fanning the scattered embers of Broadway in hope of a flame that will again become The Great Blaze. Men and women to whom the street means a livelihood will tell you the depths have been touched and Broadway is on the upbound.

They profess to believe it will again become the boulevard of boulevards, the light-hearted stretch once a definite part of the national consciousness—a playground with the finest of cafes, theatres and sundry frothier relaxations. That is their chant.

But such optimism is not visible save for spurts such as engendered by the Baer-Louis scrap. The fact is that Broadway has dwindled to a catch-penny tawdriness with all the brightness preceding coma. It must be cleansed of carnival tempo and honky-tonk blarney.

It has no class restaurants such as Rector's, Shantley's and Churchill's. Gone are such theatres as the Criterion, Globe and Gaiety as once flourished. No more hotels like the Knickerbocker or tony night clubs like Bustanobys. Only the shell remains.

Perhaps Broadways decadence is largely due to the process of reasoning that Wilson Mizner used to do about our affairs in delightful ignorance that there may be something wrong with the organ of vision.

Many foolish persons suffer from eyestrain, fully realizing that glasses are necessary. Others provide themselves with spectacles, but fail to wear them when they are most needed. Many a person walks around with glasses in his pocket when in reality he should be wearing them every minute.

Dr. Copeland

Test Eyes Regularly

When the age for wearing glasses arrives, there will be found a need to change the lenses from time to time. On account of the constant changes in the focusing power it is important that the eyes be tested pretty regularly. Wearing the same lenses for a long period of years may result ultimately in weakening the eyes, with actual damage to the sight. Bear in mind, too, that it is only by a careful test on the part of one who has scientific training that the true condition of your eyes can be determined.

Periodical general physical examinations are particularly valuable to persons past fifty. Regular eye examinations are essential in every age group.

Many a child is counted stupid in school because he has unrecognized eye trouble and cannot study as the normal child does. Failure to progress in school or college is frequently the result of uncorrected eyestrain. Listlessness, alleged laziness, unwillingness to work at tasks requiring good eyesight, and important social maladjustments, are all too many times the direct effect of poor eyesight.

Mothers Object

Many children require glasses, yet very naturally, young mothers object to their being worn. The parent fears they detract from the appearance of the child. This is foolish we must admit, but it is perfectly human. It may be encouraging to learn that many children who wear glasses in early childhood outgrow their defect. The sight may so improve that glasses are no longer required.

It is amazing what relief follows the correction of eyestrain. As if by magic, all the discomforts disappear.

The practical application of the science of optics has promoted as much the welfare of the human family as any other factor of which I have knowledge. I think great credit should be given all those engaged in the correction of eye defects.

If your eyes distress you, or if you have uncomfortable symptoms which have remained in spite of all efforts to remove them, I beg that you have your eyes tested. Find out if the vision which you flatter yourself is so good, is really possible by reason of constant strain. The small sum involved in an examination of the eyes and the correction of their defects if they exist, will repay you a thousandfold. It will give you increased efficiency and multiplied happiness.

Psychiatrists do not recommend the mystery and detective novel for mental relaxation for the high strung. I have a tense friend who just came from one. He was told to get a copy of Gibbon's "Rome." And read it during a jet of the jimmies. The classic has become a general prescription.

Just when a columnist feels he might be making his grade, he is likely to receive a twittering letter such as that which gups up the works. "Your writing is oftentimes redolent of squitter-squatter, stippled with delivered chit chirrupings. A sort of echoical spume of satirically carbonated eclat."

Fun in a lift: I promised to call for my wife at the hair dressing salon of a department store. Of the elevator operator I inquired: "Where's the beauty parlor?" And from back in the car a voice jeered "He's come too late!"

"LOVE DENIED"

by LOUISE LONG AND ETHEL DOHERTY

SYNOPSIS

Stuart Pennington, struggling young artist, is in love with Sharlene Standing, wealthy society girl. He goes about listlessly until a letter arrives saying she is returning from her travels. Then he is filled with inspiration and his fingers seem to fly over the canvas. Stuart's model, Julie DeVore, is jealous of Sharlene. She finds Sharlene's letter and reads it without compunction. Stuart will not ask Sharlene to marry him because he cannot ask her to share his poverty; besides, she isn't in love with him. But, since the day five years before, when Stuart met Sharlene, when he had never been anyone else to give meaning to his life, Sharlene, now twenty-five, travels exclusively, content to wait that day when she will love some one so much that she can give up her freedom gladly. Stuart is only her best friend but her home-coming was all he could think of. Julie means little to him, she is just a convenient person to have around when he needs a smart, pretty face for an advertisement. One morning Sharlene phones. Stuart rushes over to the Standing estate. Never was he so glad to see anyone. But his heart sinks when Sharlene tells him she has finally met the man she loves—Kent Damerell, millionaire playboy. To Sharlene's "But I simply will not lose you," Stuart replies, "You couldn't lose me, Sharlene." Mrs. Standing's heart aches for Stuart as she realizes more than her daughter how much the artist loves Sharlene.

CHAPTER VI

Summoning all her tact, Mrs. Standing launched abruptly into an account of Brooks's and Damerell's preparations for their coming.

During the recital Sharlene slipped away to the telephone. When she returned her eyes looked like own panics.

"I just called up Kent. He's on his way out."

Sharlene rose precipitately.

"No, you mustn't go. I promise him you'd be here to meet

"you wish. Sharlene," very

"Do I look all right, mother? Should I change? This old thing—"

"It was good enough for Stuart."

"I asked her not to be so dirty."

"Oh, well, Stuart!" She looked him affectionately. "He's used to any old way. I don't have to be amorous to him."

"But you are—glamorous—to—"

"He tried to keep his voice steady, but it wobbled at the end. "Thank you, Stuart," Sharlene said, carelessly accepting the tribute and went into the hall to look reflectively at herself in the mirror. Stuart bent over Mrs. Standing's head—this time, Emily."

"She's never been like this before. It's always been the other way round. She has received—"

"...enough, but you know I mean. This time she's giving—"

"She's madly in love for the first time in her life."

"It's cruel—but she thought it better for the knife to cut clean done with it."

After a while they heard the sound of a motor which stopped suddenly, and the sound of an impatient coming from down the hill.

"It's stupid of me!" Stuart exclaimed, remembering. "I hopped off Mr. Jingle before I got to the telephone and left him standing alone in the driveway."

He hurried through the house to the side entrance, followed by several yards down the driveway a sleek limousine had halted behind Mr. Jingle who stood with door insolently barring the way of his betters. The chauffeur openly insulted, but the keenly-groomed young man who from the window was grinning appreciatively. Stuart ran up to his car and hastily started with a roar and a puff of smoke to the rear. Then he drove ahead and parked at one side of the drive widened. The limousine rolled smoothly up to the front. Stuart came back down the driveway. Sharlene was in the man's arms. The sun broke through the thinning fog just then and shone their figures with gold. She pulled away and faced them. Stuart saw Kent Damerell was an exceedingly good-looking young man—and just Sharlene's height. An infectious smile and was an exciting air about the grasp of his hand was. The glance of his eyes and penetrating. Stuart realized having heard that he a great sportman and he the part.

"...you had to bother to get out of the way, Mr. Pennington," disparaged Mr. Jingle by calling him a car. I present his apology. He wouldn't apologize himself—just lives to affront limousines along the line I feel

Today

A Review of the Day's News
By Arthur Brisbane

UNIVERSAL SERVICE reports six more Ethiopian chieftains marching into Adowa with white flags, giving themselves up to General De Bono. They all swore fealty to Italy, renouncing allegiance to Haile Selassie.

Fighting Italy without Mussolini or airplanes is one thing. Fighting Mussolini and airplanes seems to be another thing.

Mussolini's problem may soon change from conquering and annexing Ethiopia to digesting what he has annexed. Building good roads always the specialty of the Romans and Italians, will help the absorption process.

ACCORDING to ancient records, a mistake occurs in one dispatch concerning the surrender of the "holy" Ethiopian city of Askum, ancient capital of the Queen of Sheba. The statement that Askum was the birthplace of King Menelik the First, ancient Ethiopian ruler, son of King Solomon and Queen Magda of Sheba, is not accurate, according to the ancient, most sacred paper of the Ethiopians.

Taken from Ethiopia long ago, returned by the British Museum, it says the Queen of Sheba's interesting son, who had King Solomon for father, was born on the journey while Queen Magda was returning from visiting the great king.

CAPTURING Askum will impress Ethiopians. The holy city, surrendered by the Ethiopians without a shot, contains the tombs of all Ethiopian rulers since the time of Sheba. The statement that Askum was the birthplace of King Menelik the First, ancient Ethiopian ruler, son of King Solomon and Queen Magda of Sheba, is not accurate, according to the ancient, most sacred paper of the Ethiopians.

He accepted the keys, proclaimed Italy's annexation of Askum, sent a force to surround the city and prevent looting the monasteries and the ancient Cathedral of St. Mary Zion.

IN THAT cathedral the original Ark of the Covenant is believed to be preserved.

Ethiopian history relates that when Solomon sent the son of his high priests, with other sons of great dignitaries, to accompany Sheba's son, after his visit to his father, the son of the high priest took the original Ark of the Covenant with him, substituting an imitation ark, much to the indignation of Solomon and that high priest.

Mr. Jingle announced his arrival at the garage near the foot of the hill in his usual flamboyant style. Instantly Julie flew to her watching post, the front window.

Stuart was a long time coming into sight. He did not dash up those stairs by the pool the way he had flown down them this morning. Could it be?

Then his head came in sight, and Julie saw that he was very pale. She drew quickly back into the shadow of the curtain and watched him breathlessly, unashamed of her prying. He gained the crest of the hill and turned to look back at the city. The sun was already obscured by the fog rolling in again from the sea, and tangling itself in tall eucalyptus trees like mournful widow's weeds. He stared vacantly at the panorama, his arms crossed on his breast. Presently he shivered a little and with a sigh turned toward the house.

Julie's heart was thumping with growing elation. Sharlene Standing must have turned him down!

Hope burst into full bloom within her again. She darted swiftly across the room, scrambled up on the table, and was standing there, mirror in hand, when Stuart opened the door.

BRINGING ORDER OUT OF CHAOS

That's Red Cross Job,
And It Is Handled
Effectively

From Nome, Alaska, to the Keys of Florida, and from the coast of Jersey to the far-flung islands of the Pacific, disaster workers of the American Red Cross in the past year aided in bringing order out of chaos in the greatest number of catastrophes in any of the 54 years since Clara Barton founded the nation's disaster relief agency. E. S. Dawson, chairman of the Salem chapter, said in a statement today.

Occurring with a frequency that exceeded the annual disaster average of the last decade by over 50 per cent, the merciless force of nature cracked down on 160 communities in 37 states and three insular possessions of the United States.

Withholding only the destructive earthquake from her repertoire of calamities, Dame Nature released her wrath on the Western Hemisphere in a tirade of tornadoes, ragging floods, dust storms, shipwrecks, and hurricanes. Fires, epidemics and mine explosions also called out the Red Cross disaster forces.

Tornadoes led the list with 50 death-dealing twisters swirling through all parts of the South and Mid-West. Fires, one of which reduced the City of Nome, Alaska, to blackened ashes, were second with 38, and floods, with 29, were third in number.

The largest of the recent disaster relief operations of the Red Cross followed the Florida hurricane of Sept. 3 which took toll of over 400 lives. Even before the storm struck, stated Mr. Dawson, "national disaster relief workers were speeding to Florida and chapters in its path warned to be prepared to render aid. Prompt emergency and rescue work by the Red Cross in cooperation with federal and local forces were followed by the Red Cross taking charge of rehabilitation for the civilian families affected.

One of the most damaging floods of this summer was that which occurred last July in the Finger Lake section of New York, which claimed 36 lives and destroyed or damaged 5,000 homes. Ninety Red Cross workers were engaged for nearly three months in assisting the families affected to get back on their feet. Approximately half a million dollars was expended by the Red Cross on this relief operation.

Red Cross relief in all disasters throughout the year went to $11,080.

And he must prove it by bringing back the easily identified fragments of four mutilated bodies.

ONE ETHIOPIAN report is that Mussolini has offered to settle with Haile Selassie on a friendly basis, allowing the emperor to keep his title, his house ten thousand feet up in the mountains, his tame lions and his dignity.

Haile Selassie says "No," which probably will make it necessary for Italian planes to climb up fifteen thousand feet and drop things down five thousand feet on Addis Ababa.

"Serious consequences yourself, you began it!"

Little boys and big nations often start a real fight in that fashion.

DID YOU read George Bernard Shaw's article? The brilliant Irishman discovers that Ethiopia, so-called, is an aggregation of tribes, one ruled fairly well by Haile Selassie, who is called "Emperor," the others doing about as they please.

"Tokio replies in substance:

"Serious consequences yourself, you began it!"

There is great power of persuasion in explosive objects dropped from the clouds. Many Ethiopian chiefs have followed the example of the coon that saw the pointing rifle and said:

"Don't shoot, I'll come down."

This Ethiopian war gives anybody in Washington, D. C., that might be interested in national defense, an opportunity to study what would happen to the United States some day if a real air fleet should come here.

The light and water rates in Minerva are as follows:

In the highest bracket, .04c per KWH, furnishes free to the city all electricity for street lights, white-way lights and waterworks.

The minimum water bill is $1.20 per 3 months, and for the large users in the 47,000 gallon bracket, 20c per thousand.

If the record of 1,802 Municipal Light Plants is to be ignored by your city administration, the reason is very obvious.

The utility arguments against municipal ownership concern the protection of the investors, rather than the consumer, and much would be heard about it if the operating of the municipal plants were less successful than the private operation.

All of these issues should awaken every citizen to the need of unfettered leadership which I have promised the citizenry.

The greatest responsibility in the operation of a light plant, must, of a necessity, be the management and engineering and must not be allowed to revert to the operation that indications show it must have had in the plant Salem had many years ago.

When we get a state legislature with the intestinal fortitude to legislate again the public utilities and pass laws to fix uniform rates for all private or public light, gas and water plants, we will have very few private light plants, because these fancy show rooms, paying high rentals, will be found unnecessary and expense for them will not be allowed. And after all, the poor consumer pays for it.

I, therefore, ask you when you go to the polls on election day to check your ballot and place an "X" before my name which will be found in the column headed "Independent Ticket", and no place else.

Reports to the Citizens of Salem

As An Independent Candidate for Mayor, My Platform Is As Follows:

1.—To overcome all obstacles in my fight to obtain a Municipal Light Plant by taking my fight to the citizens for their support.

2.—To ask Council to take advantage of laws to effect a gas reduction.

3.—To operate the Mayor's Office on a full-time basis.

4.—To present to the Citizens, if elected, by means of a city-wide meeting, my program for the year, 1936.

5.—To investigate thoroughly the reasons why our water rates are higher than the little city of Minerva.

6.—To appoint men to my cabinet, who are qualified to operate the various branches of city government.

7.—To exert leadership in every department under my control.

The light and water rates in Minerva are as follows:

Travelers Club Hears Report

A report by Mrs. Burt Leeper, delegate of the middle-east district conference of the Ohio Federation of Women's clubs held recently in Steubenville, was the opening feature of the Travelers club meeting Tuesday afternoon in the assembly room at the public library.

In her review of the two-day conference Mrs. Leeper said that Miss Elizabeth Haymaker, state president of the federation, who addressed delegates the opening morning, pointed out that the federation is growing and expanding in activities. Last year 522 new clubs joined and since the national convention in Detroit a year ago 22 more have been federated.

Two Important Battles On Big Six Card For This Weekend

Barberton-Massillon, Niles-Alliance Will Tangle In Top Games

Salem To Play Non-League Fray With East Palestine; Struthers Meets Youngstown South In Other Non-League Battle

Two gridiron battles that will play an important part in the final standings of the Northeastern Ohio Big Six league this year will be played this weekend.

The undefeated and unscorched on Massillon High school Tigers will be hosts to the Barberton Magics in a night fracas Friday, while on Saturday Alliance High, with one league victory already tucked beneath its belt, will entertain Niles McKinley High school.

Non-League Games

Both of the other Big Six teams, Salem and Struthers, will play non-league engagements, Salem Tackling East Palestine here Friday night and Struthers facing Youngstown East the same evening.

Massillon, from all present indications conceded the Big Six title along with it, has chalked up one of the most impressive records of any high school team in the state so far this season. The Tigers have blasted four opponents into gridiron oblivion and in doing so have amassed a total of 264 points and kept their own goal line unbroken.

Gaining state-wide attention as the "point-a-minute" powerhouse of the gridiron, the Massillon lads will be the heavy favorites over their league rivals, Barberton.

Barberton has credited itself with

Ohio College Gridders Have Aches And Bruises from Vigorous Drills

Ohio's many college football teams had one thing in common today—aching muscles, resulting from vigorous mid-week skirmishes.

In Cincinnati the gridiron warriors were making extensive preparations for the reception of a powerful foe—the University of Indiana. Coach Ross Cohen of the University of Cincinnati concentrated on plays to stop Coach "Bo" McMillin's five-man backfield.

The Cincinnati game Saturday will be one of the state's best battles, even though Cincinnati is out-weighted about five pounds to a man.

A wrenched ankle benched Walt Diehl, Negro fullback of Bowling Green, and the injury was expected to keep him out of the game with Rio Grande on Saturday.

Kent Stots held a long and hard drill yesterday for the home-coming game against Otterbein.

P. G. A. ENTRIES READY TO START

Big Names of Golf Take Final Warm-up Round At Course Today

(By Associated Press)

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 16.—The nation's professional golf stars, here for the national F. G. A. tournament, took their final warm-up today on a course that commanded respect for its exactness.

The general opinion of the Twin Hills course, over which the battle for the professional crown starts tomorrow, was summed up by Paul Runyan, the defending champion:

Enjoyed It

"I enjoyed it very much," said the 140-pound package of golfing dynamite after turning in a 71, one over par. "It is all a matter of direction. It is a very right course, not long, but it requires great accuracy."

The tree-studded course echoed today with the clacking of club on ball as the big shots of goldom got in their final practice licks.

There were all the big names in golf—Walter Hagen, Gene Sarazen, Leo Diegel, Horton Smith, Johnny Revolta, Milwaukee; Craig Wood, Deal, N. J.; Henry Picard, Hershey, Pa., the nation's low score for the year, and a host of others.

122 Entered

The official entry list was 122. It contained all the members of the Rydell cup team. Only Olin Dutra of Chicago was missing today.

In their first practice rounds yesterday only a few of the late arrivals kept scores. Most of them were a stroke or so over par 70. Frank Walsh, Chicago, and Horton Smith bagged a 72 and a 73, respectively.

Johnnie Farrell of New Jersey took a 73 and Billy Burke, Cleveland, a 76. Charley Lacey, Chicago, hit some scorching tee shots to garner a 71.

STATE SCHOOLS LOOK FOR HELP

Legislatures Consider Aid To O. S. U. and Others

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS, Oct. 16—Definite possibility of help from the house finance committee for state universities, appeared today in the face of renewed warning from Governor Davey that he would not approve any substantial increases over his vetoes in the biennial appropriations bill.

The committee called Ohio State officials to explain the university's needs this morning. Many committee members declared their willingness to restore as much of the $8,800,000 vetoed as they deemed necessary. Ohio State lost $1,266,500 in the slash.

Chairman Julian Schweller (D. Putnam) chairman of the finance committee broadened the committee's scope of discussion by ordering the educational section to consider the condition of all state universities.

The section had approved tentative restoration of $305,000 over the veto in the budgets of the six institutions. A discussion of the Ohio State budget brought forth assertions that proposed restorations would cause further reduction in salaries if effected by transferring present funds.

Several members declared they would not permit additional salary cuts and Schweller ordered reconsideration of all universities.

Tells of Germany

CLEVELAND, Oct. 16.—The enlarged German army's need for equipment stimulated industry and decreased unemployment in that nation, Dr. Gotthilf Bronish, chief magistrate counsel of Berlin, told a Western Reserve university audience in an address last night.
